Approved Tools: Online Surveys and Forms

Information Technology. Fictional, for training only. Updated August 2026. The product names are real; the approval decisions are invented and say nothing about the products themselves.

Use only the tools on this list for work surveys and forms. Each tool is approved for certain levels of data, as defined in the data policy.

Data levels

- Public: information anyone may see, such as event dates or published reports.
- Internal: staff-only information with low risk, such as room feedback or staff event sign-ups.
- Restricted: student records (anything that links a student to their grades, enrollment, financial aid, disability or conduct information), health information, Social Security numbers and bank details.

Survey and form tools

Tool	Status	Approved for	Notes
Qualtrics (institutional license)	Approved	Public, Internal, Restricted	Sign in with your campus account. Request a license through the IT service portal; no cost to departments. Research with human participants also needs IRB approval.
Microsoft Forms (campus Microsoft 365)	Approved	Public, Internal	Not for Restricted data. Sign in with your campus account.
Google Forms	Not approved for work data	None	We have no institutional Google agreement. Don’t use personal accounts for work surveys.
SurveyMonkey	Not approved	None	No institutional contract. A department can request a review.
Any other tool	Not reviewed	None	Request a review before using it.

Requesting a new tool

1. Submit a software review request through the IT service portal.
2. IT security reviews the tool. This takes four to six weeks.
3. Purchases over $5,000 a year also go through procurement.

4. Before a tool can hold Restricted data, the vendor must sign our data protection agreement.
5. The vendor must provide an accessibility statement (WCAG 2.1 AA).
